This is a ghost story — a story of the recent past, a year just gone by.
It's a history of feeling and of fact, a picture book of the year, an epilogue for 1971-1972 as it was lived at Greer High.

Look back at the familiar. Consider a time not quite forgotten.

Listen to the chalk creak across the board. What did it tell you?

See the pattern of the stairs. Everybody goes both ways, but really nobody goes the same way.

Feel the noise of 2,600 feet changing classes, changing lives.

Remember

two lines at lunch . . . and ecology . . . and PSAT and rain for Homecoming . . . and cotton snow at Christmas and makeup days on Saturday . . . and homework . . . and D.C. and trying to study in the auditorium . . . and no heat and an empty suggestion box . . . and never quite finishing anything.

Search the closets of your mind for memory is the past recalled not chronologically, but in disordered flashes of yesterdays like leaves whirling in the wind.

Look back; turn back.

Mike,
It has been a great year in English. I will still be glad to get out. Take care and be good.

And all her silken flanks with garlands dressed?
 What little town by river or sea shore,
 Or mountain-built with peaceful citadel,
 Is emptied of this folk, this pious morn?
 And, little town, thy streets for evermore
 Will silent be; and not a soul to tell Why thou art desolate, can e'er return.

O Attic^o shape! Fair attitude! with brede^o
 Of marble men and maidens overwrought,
 With forest branches and the trodden weed;
 Thou, silent form, dost tease us out of thought
 As doth eternity. Cold Pastoral!^o
 When old age shall this generation waste,
 Thou shalt remain, in midst of other woe
 Than ours, a friend to man, to whom thou say'st, "Beauty is truth, truth beauty" — that is all
 Ye know on earth, and all ye need to know,

41. Attic: pertaining to Attica, a kingdom of ancient Greece; brede: embroidery. 45. Cold Pastoral: Keats compares the urn to a pastoral poem (a poem that deals with shepherds and the countryside), which was a favorite verse form of the ancient Greeks.

THE SCHOOL DISTRICT OF GREENVILLE COUNTY

GREER SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL
GREER, SOUTH CAROLINA 29651

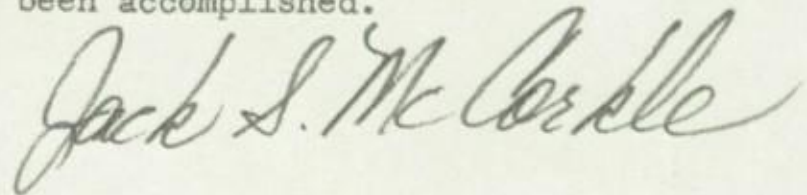

OFFICE OF THE PRINCIPAL

This year has been the beginning of something new for Greer Senior High School. This applies both in the sense of having a new administration and in the sense of beginning the Piedmont Plan.

Administratively, the tremendous amount of leadership and character demonstrated by the Class of 1972 has made the job of administration a pleasant experience. To you Seniors, a very sincere "Thank You."

In the Piedmont Plan sense, the hope for a better way in which to structure learning, the hope for a more educationally sound program of studies, and the hope for a way to make each student responsible for the education process, all of these are the most exciting educational opportunities to come on the scene during our lifetime. The future holds such promise of anticipation that we should be thankful for the blessings we are about to receive.

It is with a sincere appreciation for a pleasant year, and with the feeling of anticipation for the next year, that I say to the Seniors, "Thank you, Friend, " and issue the challenge to the Juniors to do the same commendable job that has been accomplished.

MEMBER OF THE SOUTHERN ASSOCIATION OF COLLEGES AND SECONDARY SCHOOLS

This has been a year of contrast

With a mixture of hope & fear we returned to school under a new Administration. Many felt it was an improvement; Others wanted the old back. We changed the grading system, but we didn't know the effect it would have. For teachers it's great, but some lost motivation to work.

We became part of the celebrated model school project, but no one knew what a model school was. We wanted change, but were hesitant to take the first step. Meanwhile the old debates remained. Seniors wanted the old senior privileges but couldn't remember what they were. The school was split on the question of a dress code. A lot criticized noise in study halls, but kept on talking.

But somehow in the midst of the conflicts, most students commended the Greer High spirit.

The following article appeared in the November 24th edition of the Greer Citizen:

The Greenville County School District has been selected by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare as one of only three districts in the United States to participate in a five-year experimental program in education calling for the development of a model school system.

The Model Schools Project will involve some 5,000 students, all in the Greer area, at the six local elementary schools, Greer Middle School and Greer Senior High School. Some $5 to $6 million in federal funds are expected to be granted the county school district to implement the program.

The concept of the project is to develop a model system with considerable involvement of both parents and students.

On Tuesday, December 2, seniors from five English classes were asked to write papers on the subject of the model school — what aspects of Greer High should be changed and what should be kept. Most of the students took the assignment as a springboard to air their feelings about other issues as well. A representative sampling of their ideas follows.

On the proposed model school students expressed contrasting opinions.

"I think the model school plan will be of great advantage because it means there will be changes."

"The first change I would make would be to build a new school. Secondly, I think that all classes should be grouped according to grades. This way you could move faster with an advanced class and slower with a remedial class."

"Right now school is sort of dull, and the model school might provide students with action that might make them want to learn. We don't have enough up-to-date equipment. The model school will be exciting and creative. I hope it doesn't mess up the athletics such as football & baseball, because it's been fun playing sports the four years I've been here."

"In the model school program it may be good that the individual can go at his own pace, provided he has a goal or reason to work. Many wouldn't work on their own. It would be good if the teacher could motivate the child to learn."

"I think that we should be given legal cuts from class (like they do in college.) If a person took any more cuts than he was allowed, he would automatically fail that course."

"It's hard to list changes because I'm used to the bad. The students should have their choice of food for lunch. Vending machines should be added for just a snack. The idea of hall proctors I don't like, they ask too many questions, you're treated by some as if you're a criminal. The parking facilities should be enlarged. Many a time someone is parked in my way, and I can't leave."

"One thing I think would help learning is sound-proof walls. It is hard to concentrate when you are taking a test with a lot of noise going on in another room. Some time the people in the other class don't realize they are making as much noise as they do. Even the sound of the typewriter is distracting when you are trying to concentrate.

Air conditioned rooms are another thing I would like to see for the future. A person can concentrate better if he is comfortable."

"I think students should be allowed to learn a little more of what they are interested in rather than what has always been required."

"The best type of school I figure would teach some vocational courses. This would cut out drop-outs, cutting classes and even school. The courses would be taught in semesters. For example first semester for Mechanics you could take Gasoline Motors, 2nd Diesel engines, 3. Gear Systems and Body Work, 4. Small Motors."

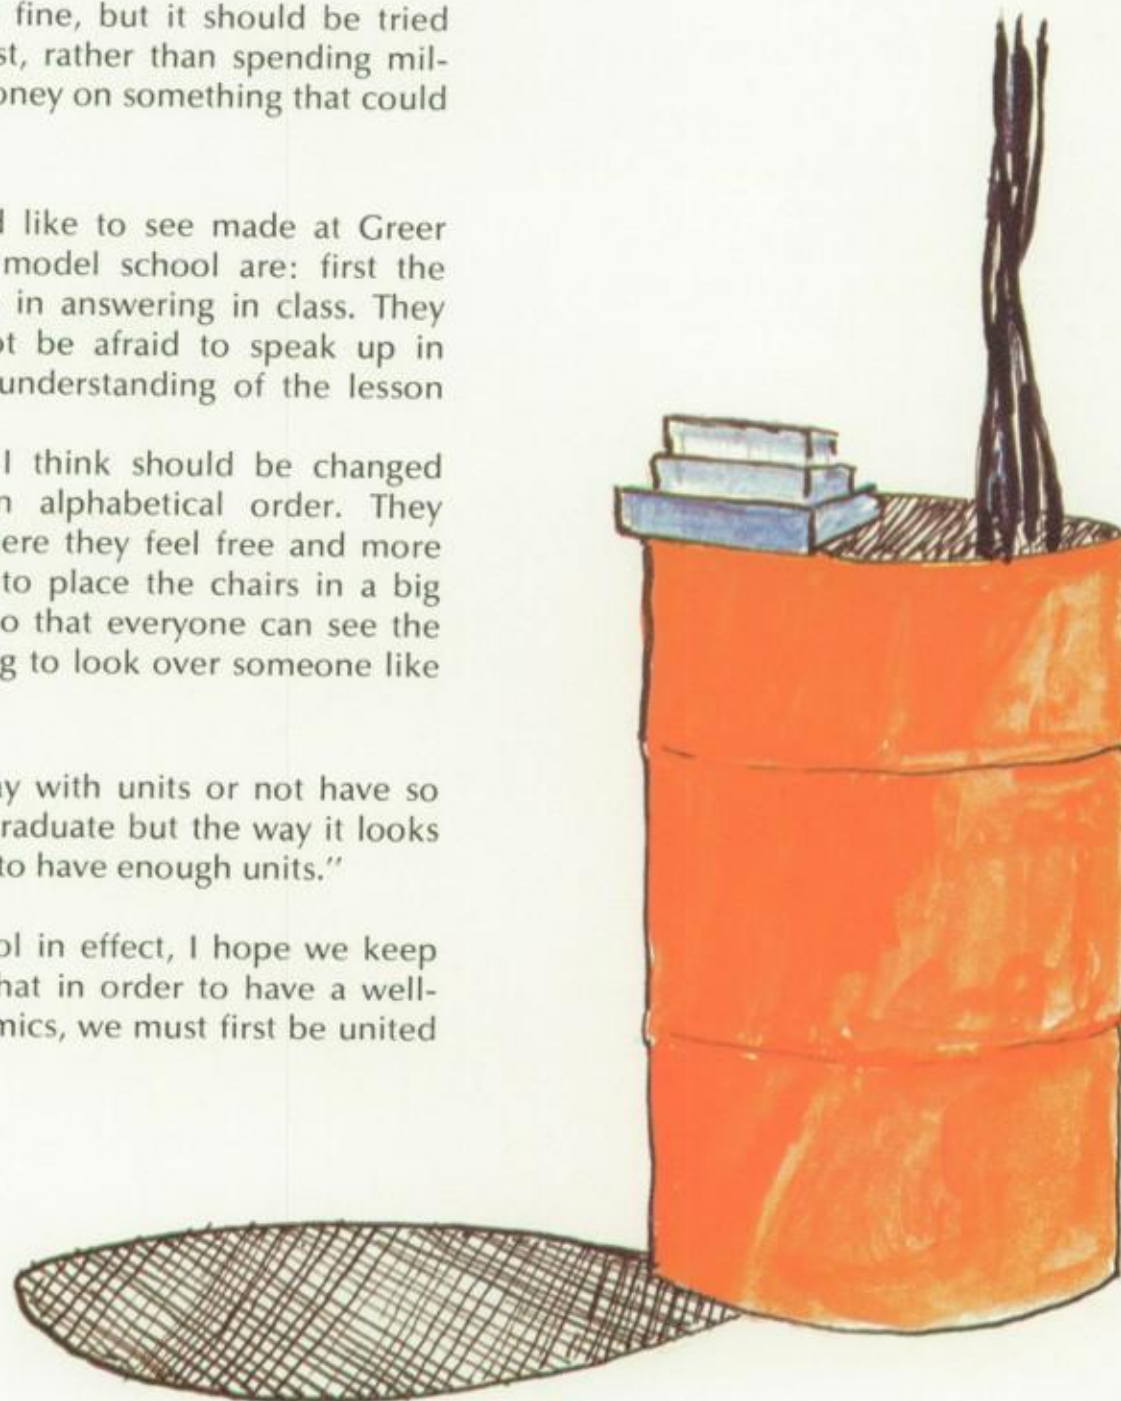

"The model school is fine, but it should be tried in elementary grades first, rather than spending millions of the taxpayers' money on something that could very well fail."

"The changes I would like to see made at Greer High next year for the model school are: first the attitudes of the students in answering in class. They need encouraging to not be afraid to speak up in class discussion; better understanding of the lesson depends on them.

One important thing I think should be changed is arranging students in alphabetical order. They should be able to sit where they feel free and more relaxed. A suggestion is to place the chairs in a big circle around the room so that everyone can see the teacher better than having to look over someone like it is this year."

"If they would do away with units or not have so many I would probably graduate but the way it looks now is that I'm not going to have enough units."

"With the model school in effect, I hope we keep our school spirit. I feel that in order to have a well-rounded school in academics, we must first be united as a school."

One of the most noticeable differences of the 1971-1972 school year, to insiders and outsiders alike, was the relaxing of the dress code. Some students approved; more didn't.

"One of the things I think should be changed is the dress code. I think wearing pants on a cold winter's morning is all right, but I do not like to see the hot pants and other wild outfits that I have seen."

"I think that the best change was allowing girls to wear pants."

"I first thought the change in the dress code would be good. Girls could wear a neat pants suit and still look good. But it has gotten to where some wear blue jeans and a T shirt. And boys with their hair to their shoulders look awful and slouchy."

"I think the best thing at this school is that we are free to wear anything we like and that nothing is said about the boys' hair. When we are able to do this, it makes us not hate it quite as bad."

"Greer changed its dress code for the first time in 1970. I thought wearing pants to school was fantastic — until I saw sloppy looking girls in tight blue jeans. They looked as if they had been poured into them. It is a very disgusting sight. I think there should be a limit on what kind of pants to wear. Boys are just as bad with their hair. I'm not against long hair if it is clean. Some times, though, "young men" look like they came out of an oil field."

After the dress code, the subjects seniors most frequently mentioned were the need for a student center and the decision to hold study hall in the auditorium.

"The first change that I would like to suggest is that we get a student center. A place where we can go instead of using the library for our pleasure time."

"I've also found out that we need a student center here very bad. Since study halls are in the auditorium, people are wrecking it. They're going to the library and wrecking it too. If we had a student center, some people might wreck it, but at least it would be only one place and the students would have a place to go."

"I would have like to have had a place somewhere in the school for people to meet and talk if they had some free time. I think if we had a student center maybe people would not talk in study hall."

"Why have any study halls because there is little or no studying going on? It's mostly a talking or social hour. I think students should come to school, attend their classes, and leave."

"But there are things that have hurt the school more than helped it. Like the way they fixed the study halls this year. It's hard to get studying done when you're in the auditorium. I was in there at the first of the year and didn't like it.

"If they are goona keep the study halls in the auditorium, they should at least put in good lighting."

And of course the teachers got their licks. According to Greer High students, Greer High teachers are "Not smart enough"

"Learned"

"Too conservative"

"Too liberal"

"Too fast"

"Too slow"

"Too hard"

"Too easy"

"Too much"

"I think that some teachers who never assign homework should, and that some of the ones who assign it every night shouldn't. I feel that the weekend is a vacation from school and students should not be burdened with homework during that time."

"One reason school is getting to be a little bit boring is that some of the teachers can't do anything but work. Everynow and then (even if it's only one day a month) a teacher should let the class talk to each other, quietly. During homeroom we're too busy listening to announcements and pledging to the flag. I don't know about the study halls, but everyone tells me you can't talk in there. By the time you get through eating lunch, you have just enough time to say "hello" to a person before you get counted late to your next class."

Possibly the only topic all seniors agree on is "Senior Privileges."

"I think that the Senior Class should be able to do some things. So far this year you can't tell the seniors from the freshmen. Your senior year should be special."

"During my three and one half years of continuously going to Greer High School, the one thing I noticed the most was "senior privileges." When I was a freshman, I thought about how great it was going to be when I reached my senior year. Now that I am a senior I don't see what is so great about it, except the fact that it's my last year of school (hopefully).

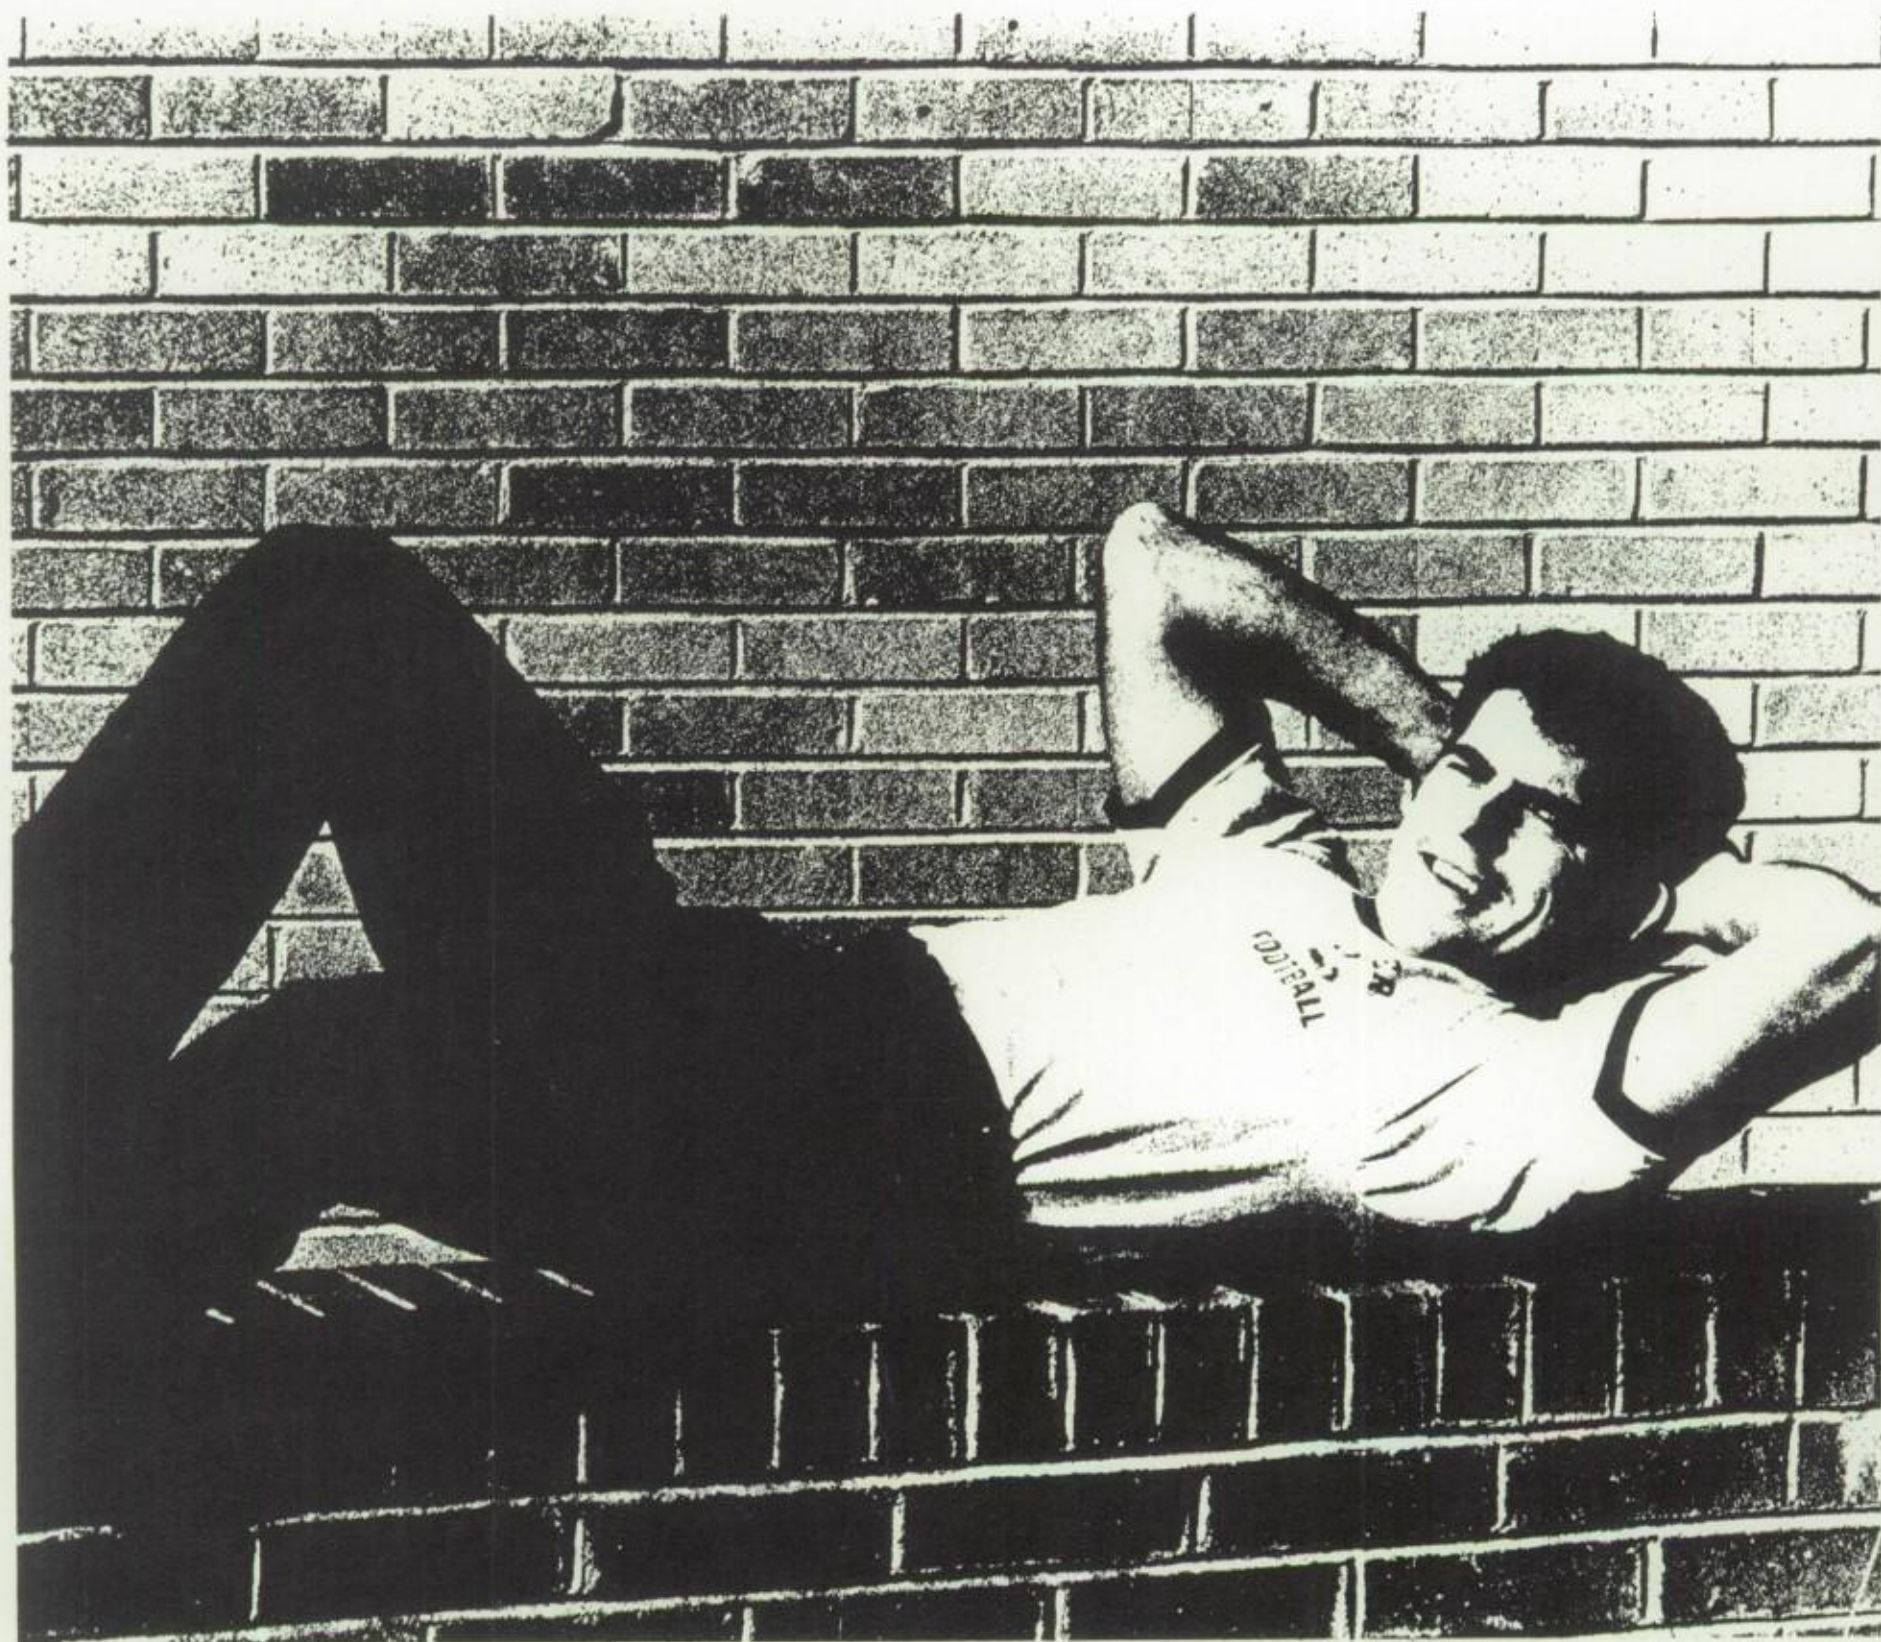

Even that's not so great because I'll probably never see some of these people again. By "Senior Privileges," I don't mean we should be set free to do what we want to at school, because I know how dangerous that could be. I was just thinking that we should have more activities. For example, the annual party we had last year, that was great. We should have something to remember besides the grades we made."

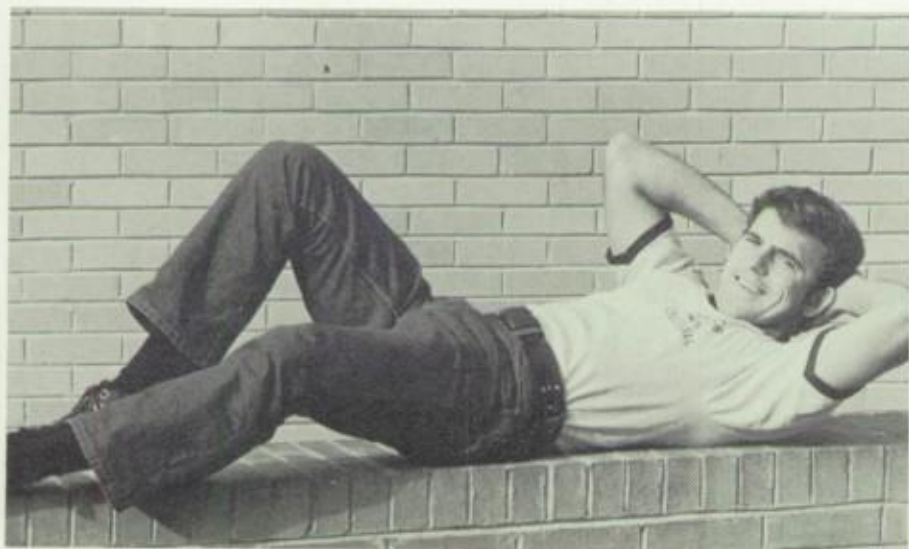

"Seniors. The only thing different about seniors is that maybe some drive cars to school, wear a high school ring, and have three units of English behind them. Sometimes we get called to the gym first. That is it!"

But

"Ring Day was perfect. Nothing should ever change that. Ring Day should always stay traditional, the Seniors being called to the auditorium to get their rings."

"I think the greatest thing that has ever happened to me was when we got our Senior rings and we were a solid member of the Best Class Yet. That is the Class of '72!"

Senior Honor Society 4. REBA WRIGHT Chorus 4,3,2.

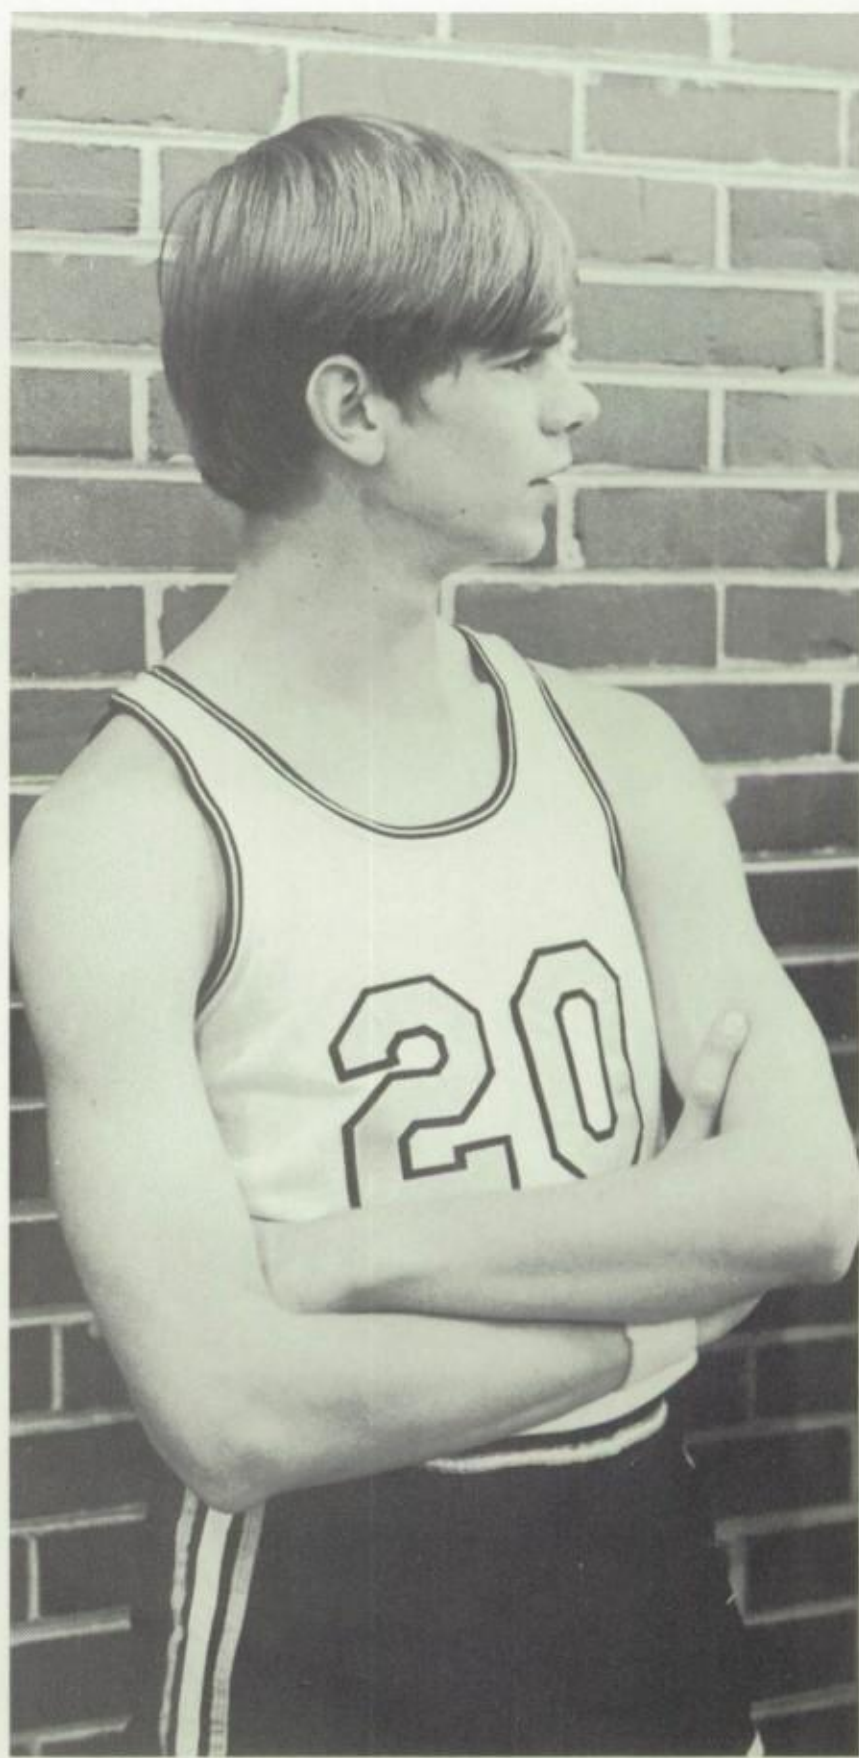

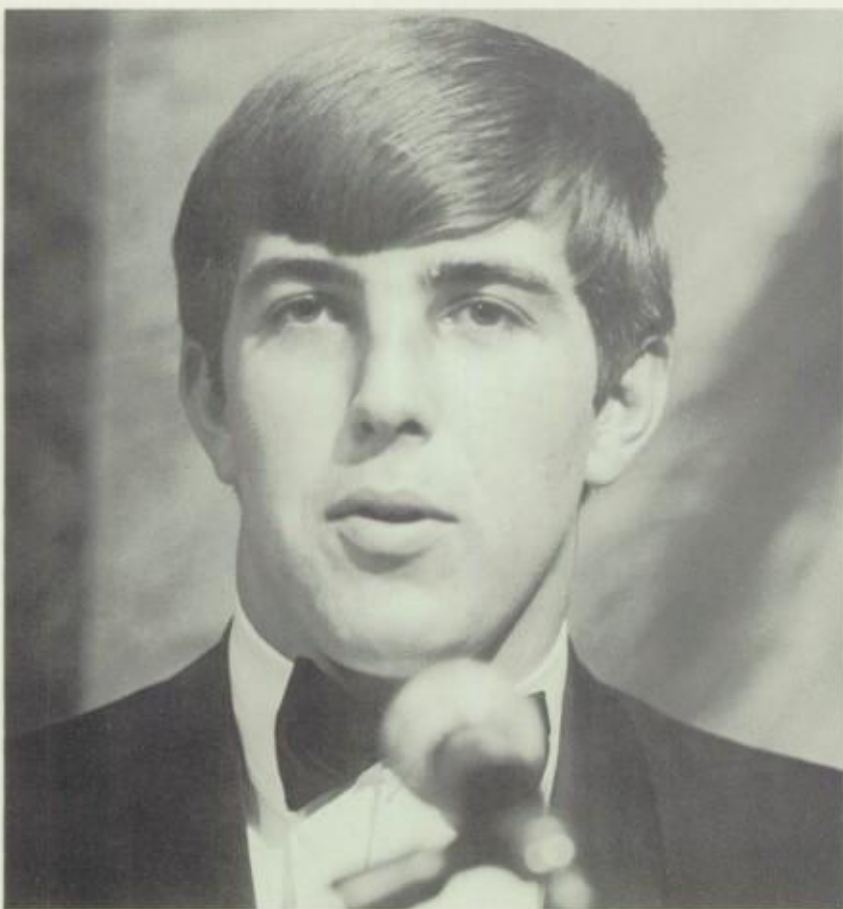

The Senior Gallery is unique because it is the only honor chosen entirely by students. In the fall seniors voted for five classmates they felt had contributed the most to the school and its activities. Leading the winners were Libby Wallace and Keith Trout. This year's Senior Gallery also includes (in no especial order) Debbie Earley, Chip Patat, Browning Wade, Linda Wood, and Alicia Drummond; also Mary Paget, Eddie Shirley, Barry Huey, Mark Smith, and Margaret An Hazle.

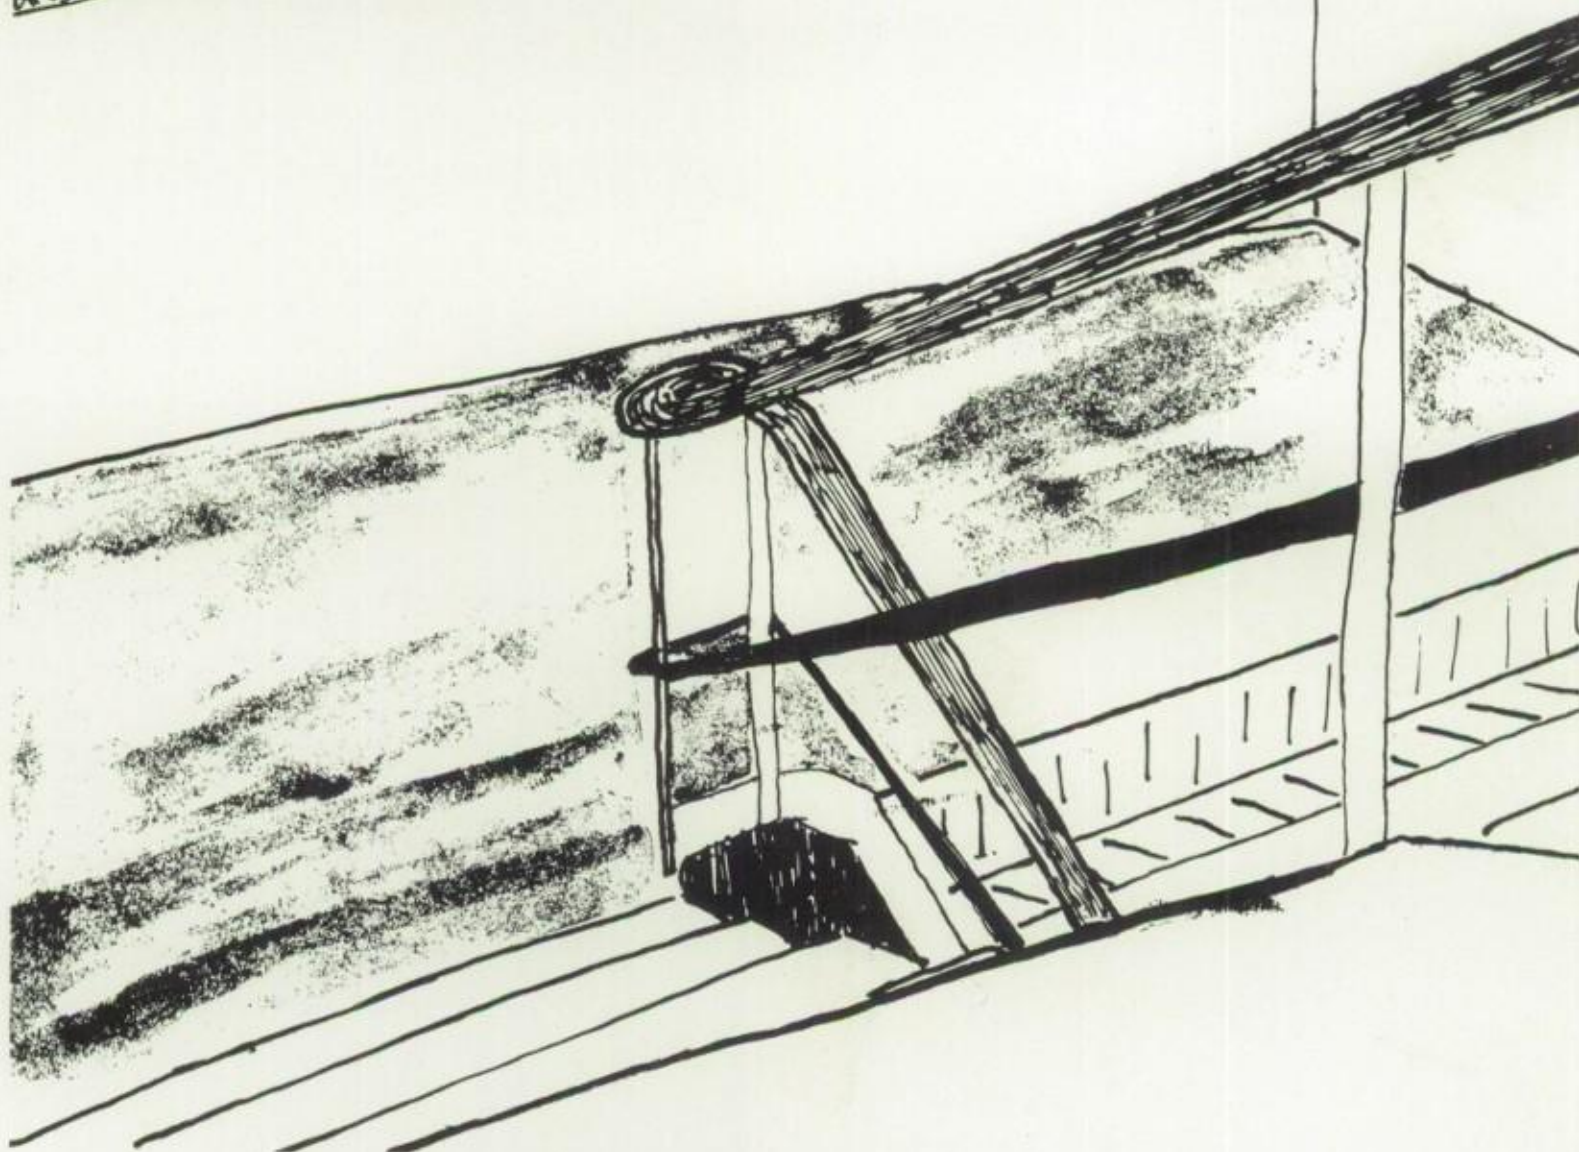

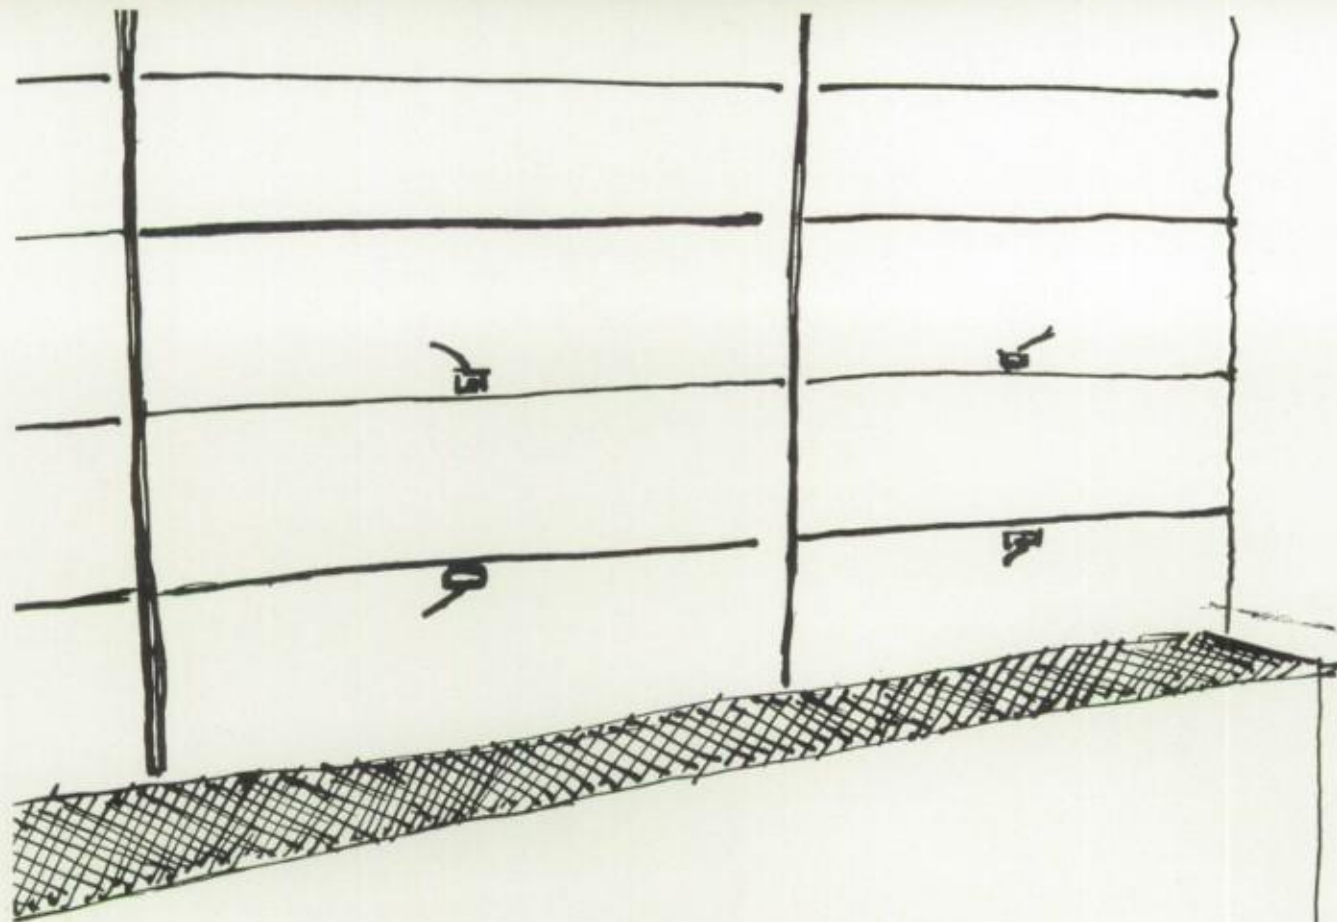

Graduation Marshals are selected according to rank in class. Last year's group included Karen Mason, Debbie Earley, Barry Huey, Browning Wade, Shirley Wolfe, Susan McElrath, Karen McKown, Vickie Hairston, and Kim O'Quinn. Absent when picture was taken were Frank Hooper, Louise Sullivan, and Andrea Snow.

Seniors who held the major offices at Greer High for 1971-1972 included Randy Massingill, Senior Class President; Ronnie Bennett and Keith Trout, Football Co-Captains; Eddie Shirley, Le Flambeau Editor-in-Chief; Debbie Earley, Greer High Times Co-Editor; Mark Smith, Student Body President; Debbie Parris, Homecoming Queen; Pam Wilson, Greer High Times Co-Editor; Libby Wallace, Head Cheerleader; Mary Paget, Le Flambeau Business Manager; and Margaret An Hazle, Student Body Vice President.

Looking back,

"One quality I wish I could have kept through high school is the innocence of a freshman. Freshmen are so genuine. They do not know all about high school and so they are honest in all their efforts — even if some of those efforts are blunders."

"Everything is new to a freshman. Each day is a new experience. Then learning is fun. My freshman year was fun. I wish I could have kept that awareness and excited outlook through my remaining three years."

"Being a freshman is not too much fun really except that it's the beginning of the end of high school. Freshmen get hit on the head by seniors. It gets rough sometime, but everyone has lived through it. I think that this tradition should live forever. My sophomore year was okay. And my junior year was pretty good, but my senior year is great."

"My last three and a half years here at Greer High have, frankly, not been the most profitable for me. I am not what one would call a genius, even in the most extreme cases, but I insisted on taking college courses and have done fairly well until this last year. If I had the time to spend, I know I could have done better. If I could start over, I would not work, but study for excellent grades."

"When I first came to Greer High, I knew that I had finally come of age. Now I could make my own decisions and never be wrong."

"I have learned more by just being in high school than anyone could ever teach me."

"I wish the school today was still like it was back when my father went to school. He had it made; there wasn't all of this new kind of classwork to do. And he didn't have much homework. Back then I guess it was still hard for him. But there have been a lot of changes since then and some I like and some I don't."

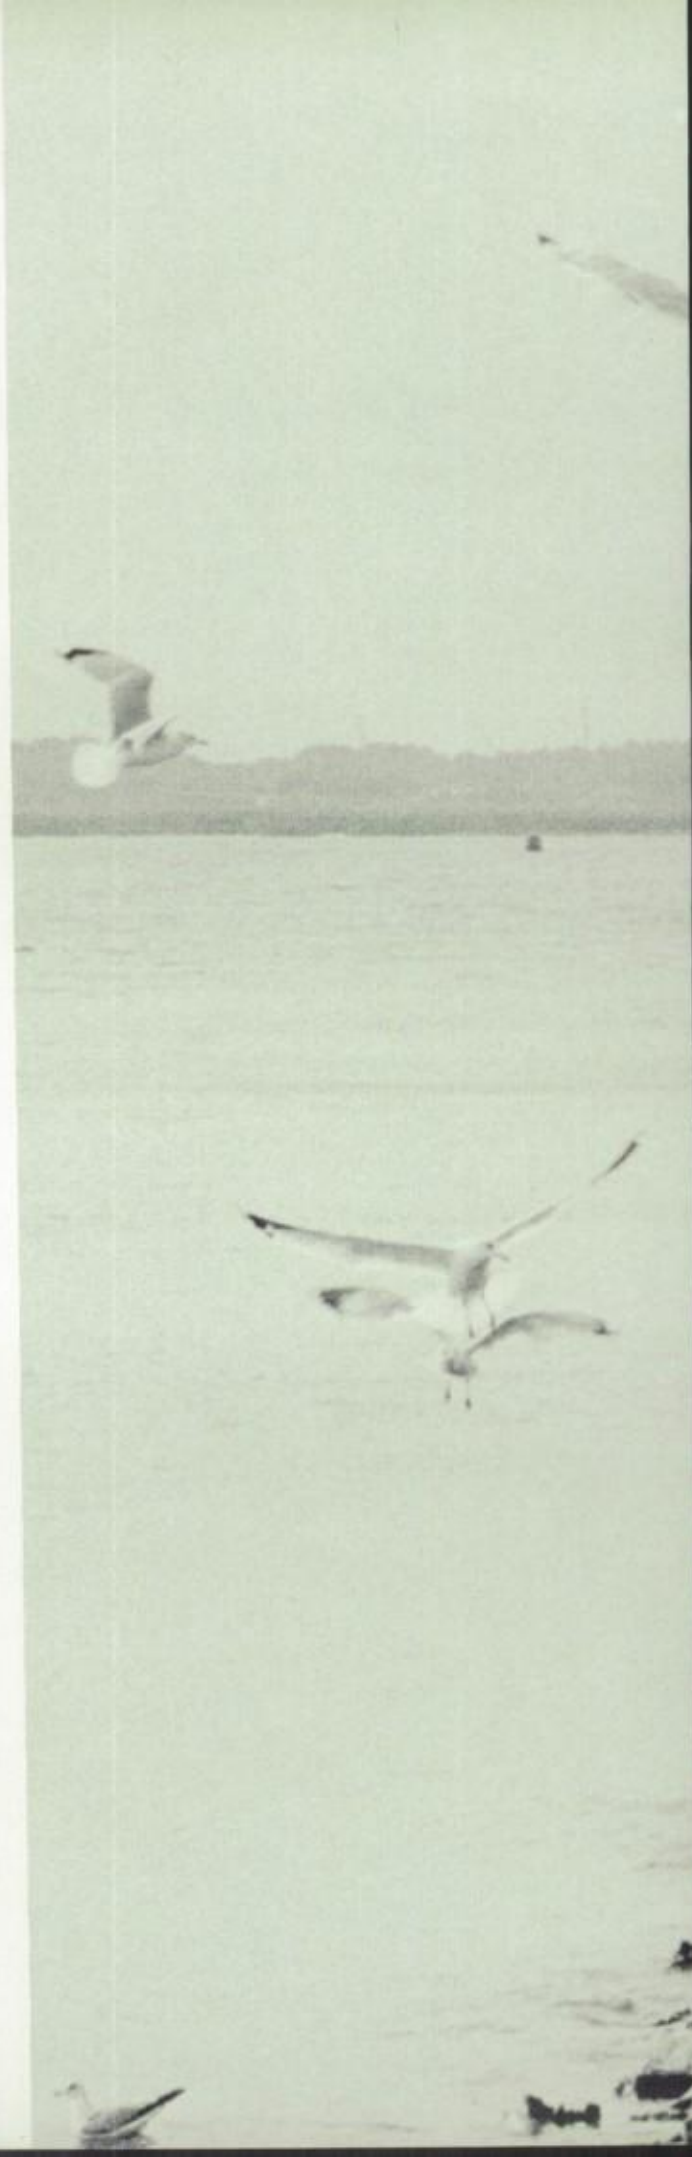

"I think the people here are more concerned with their social status than with the educational aspects of school. This is one of the things I hope the Model School Program will change. If a student would really become more interested in his studies than his social life, there would be more harmony and understanding in the school."

"The first thing that comes to mind to change would be not to take calculus this year.

I would also adjust my social life to the point where it satisfied me and no one else."

"My four years at Greer High have been the worst of my life. Before I began school here I was one of the most ambitious people in Greer. The only ambition I have now is to get as far from this town as I can."

"After twelve years in school you think you would be happy to go, for eleven years I was but now I'm not so sure."

You are a student at Greer High for four years.
And only those who count the 720 days of classes can know what that really means.

Mike.

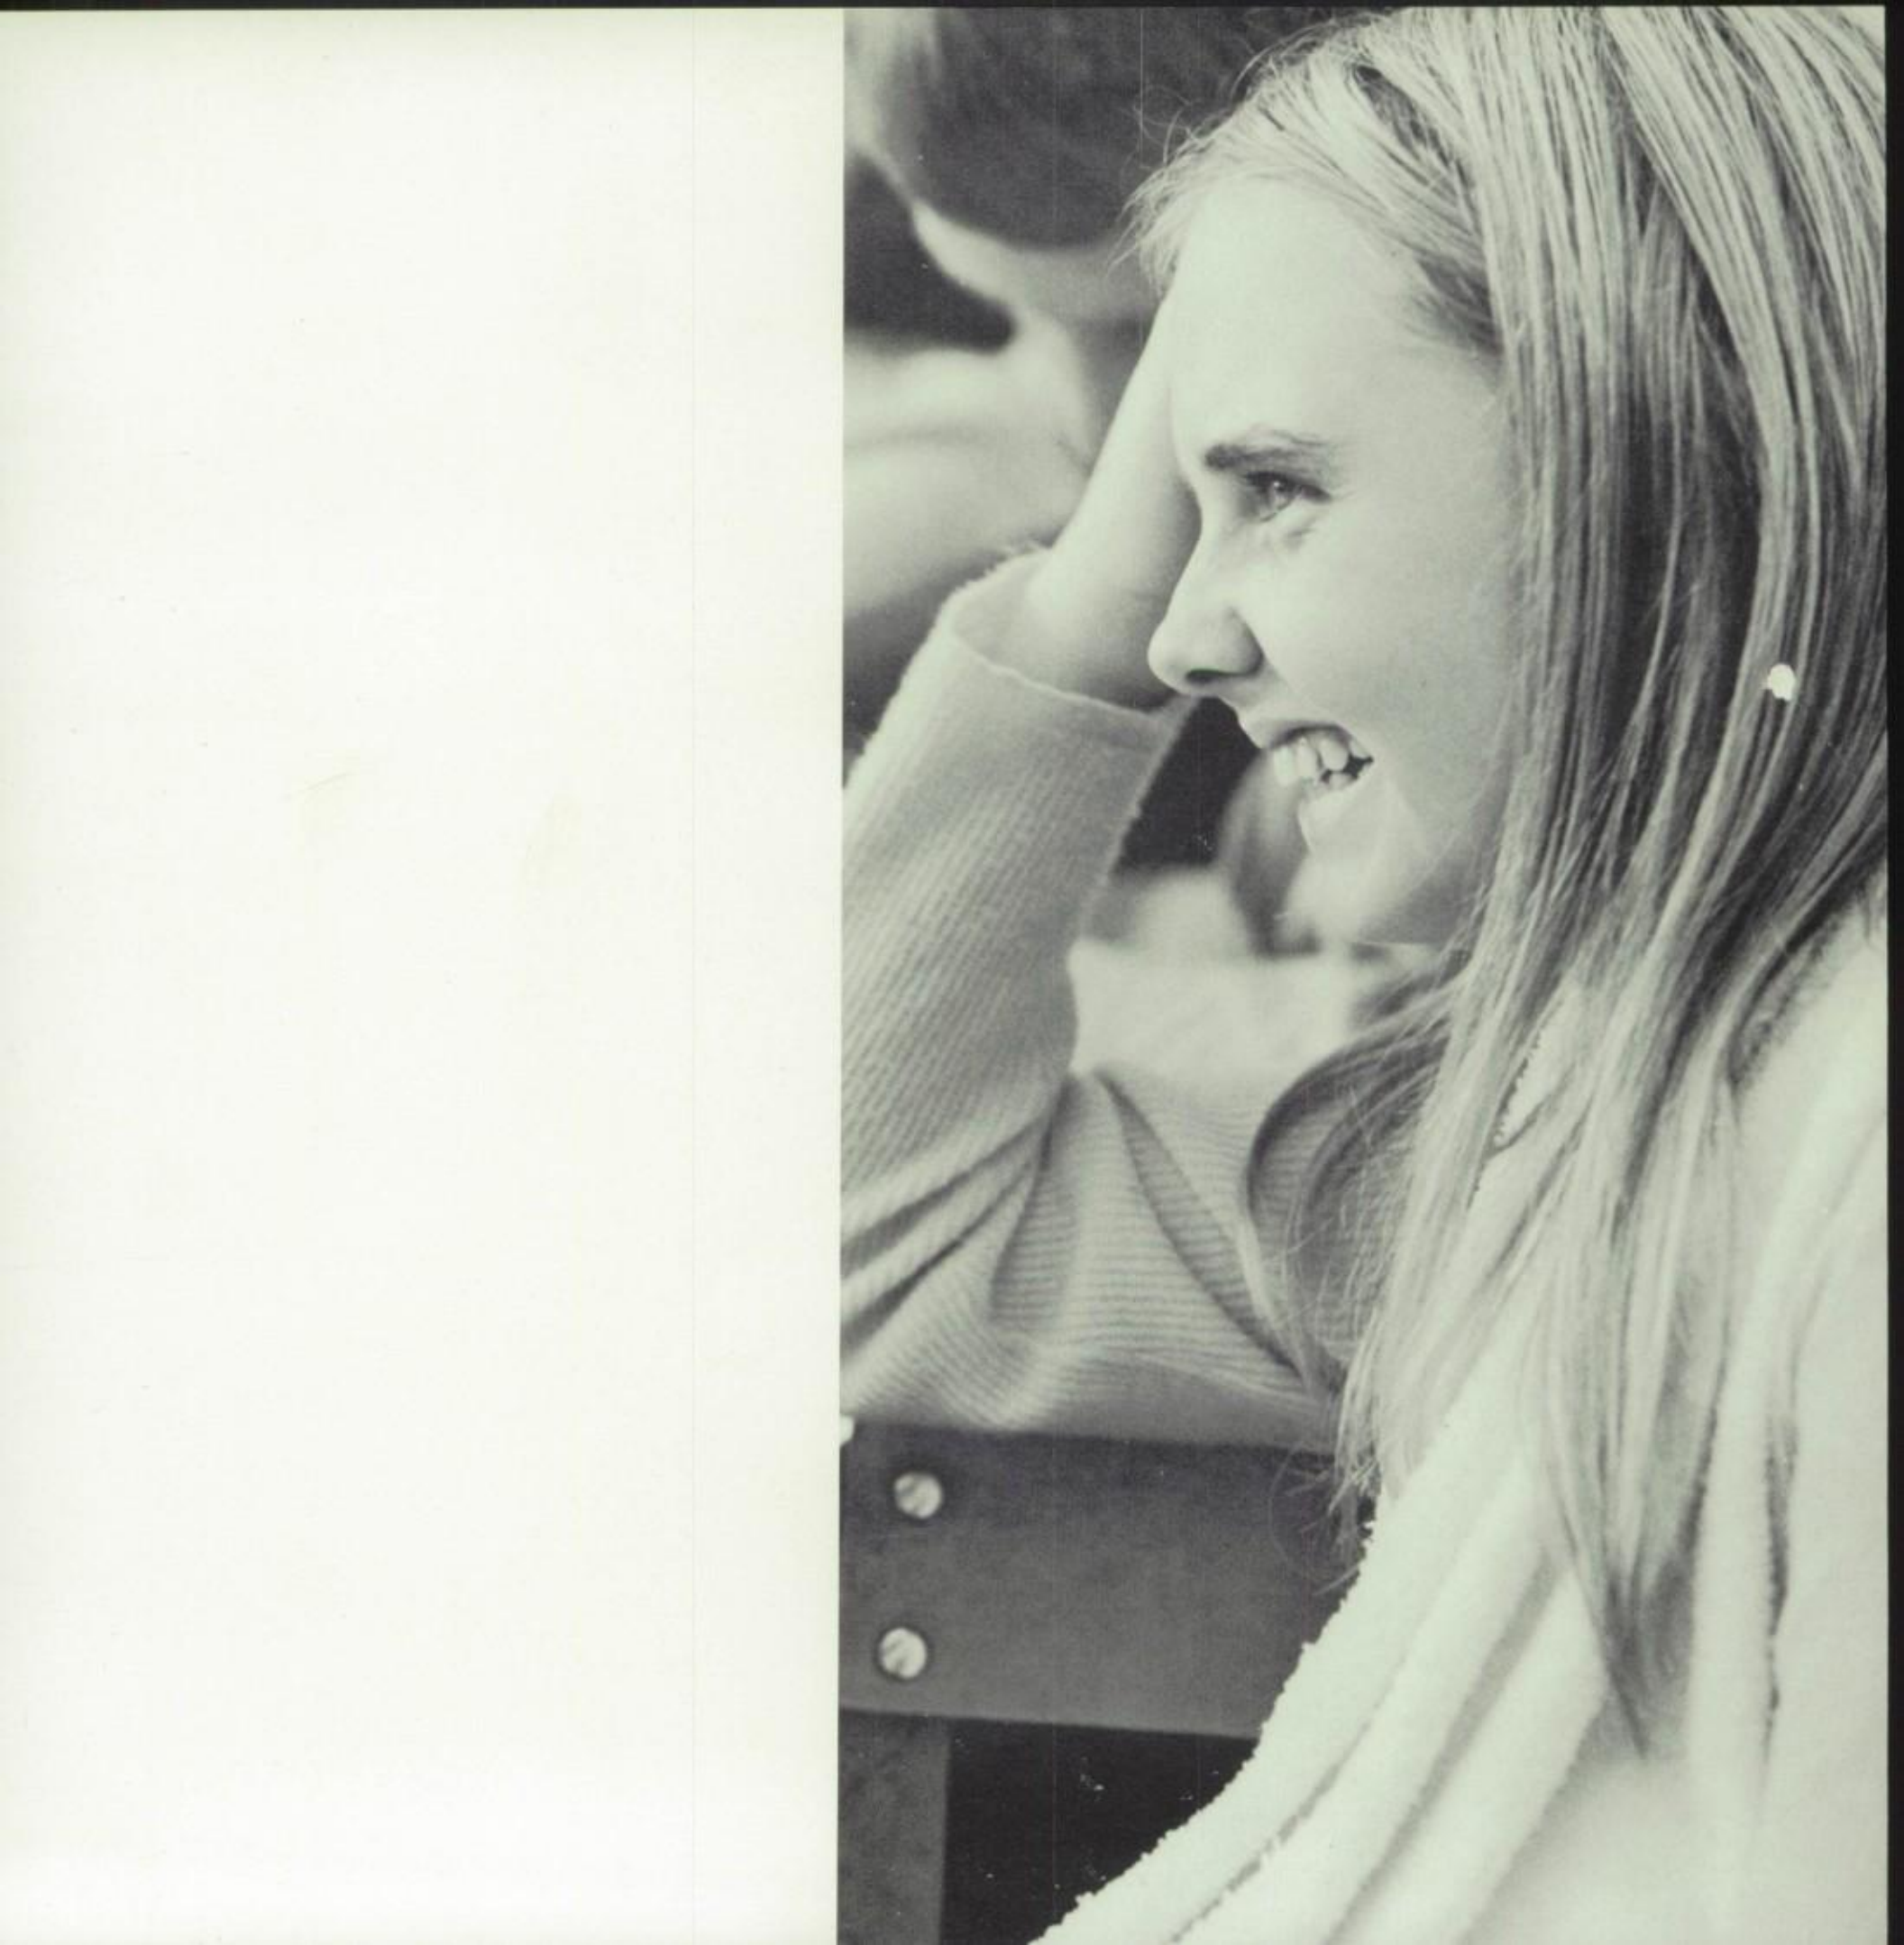

Live life and love it.
And get the best of it
cause you deserve it.

Good luck

"75"

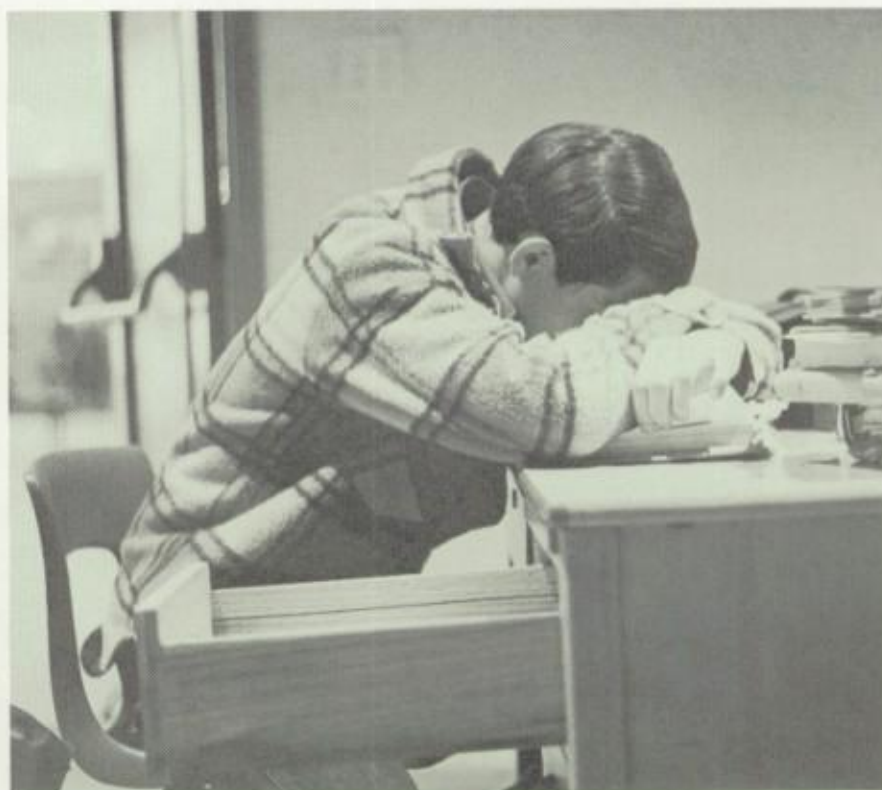

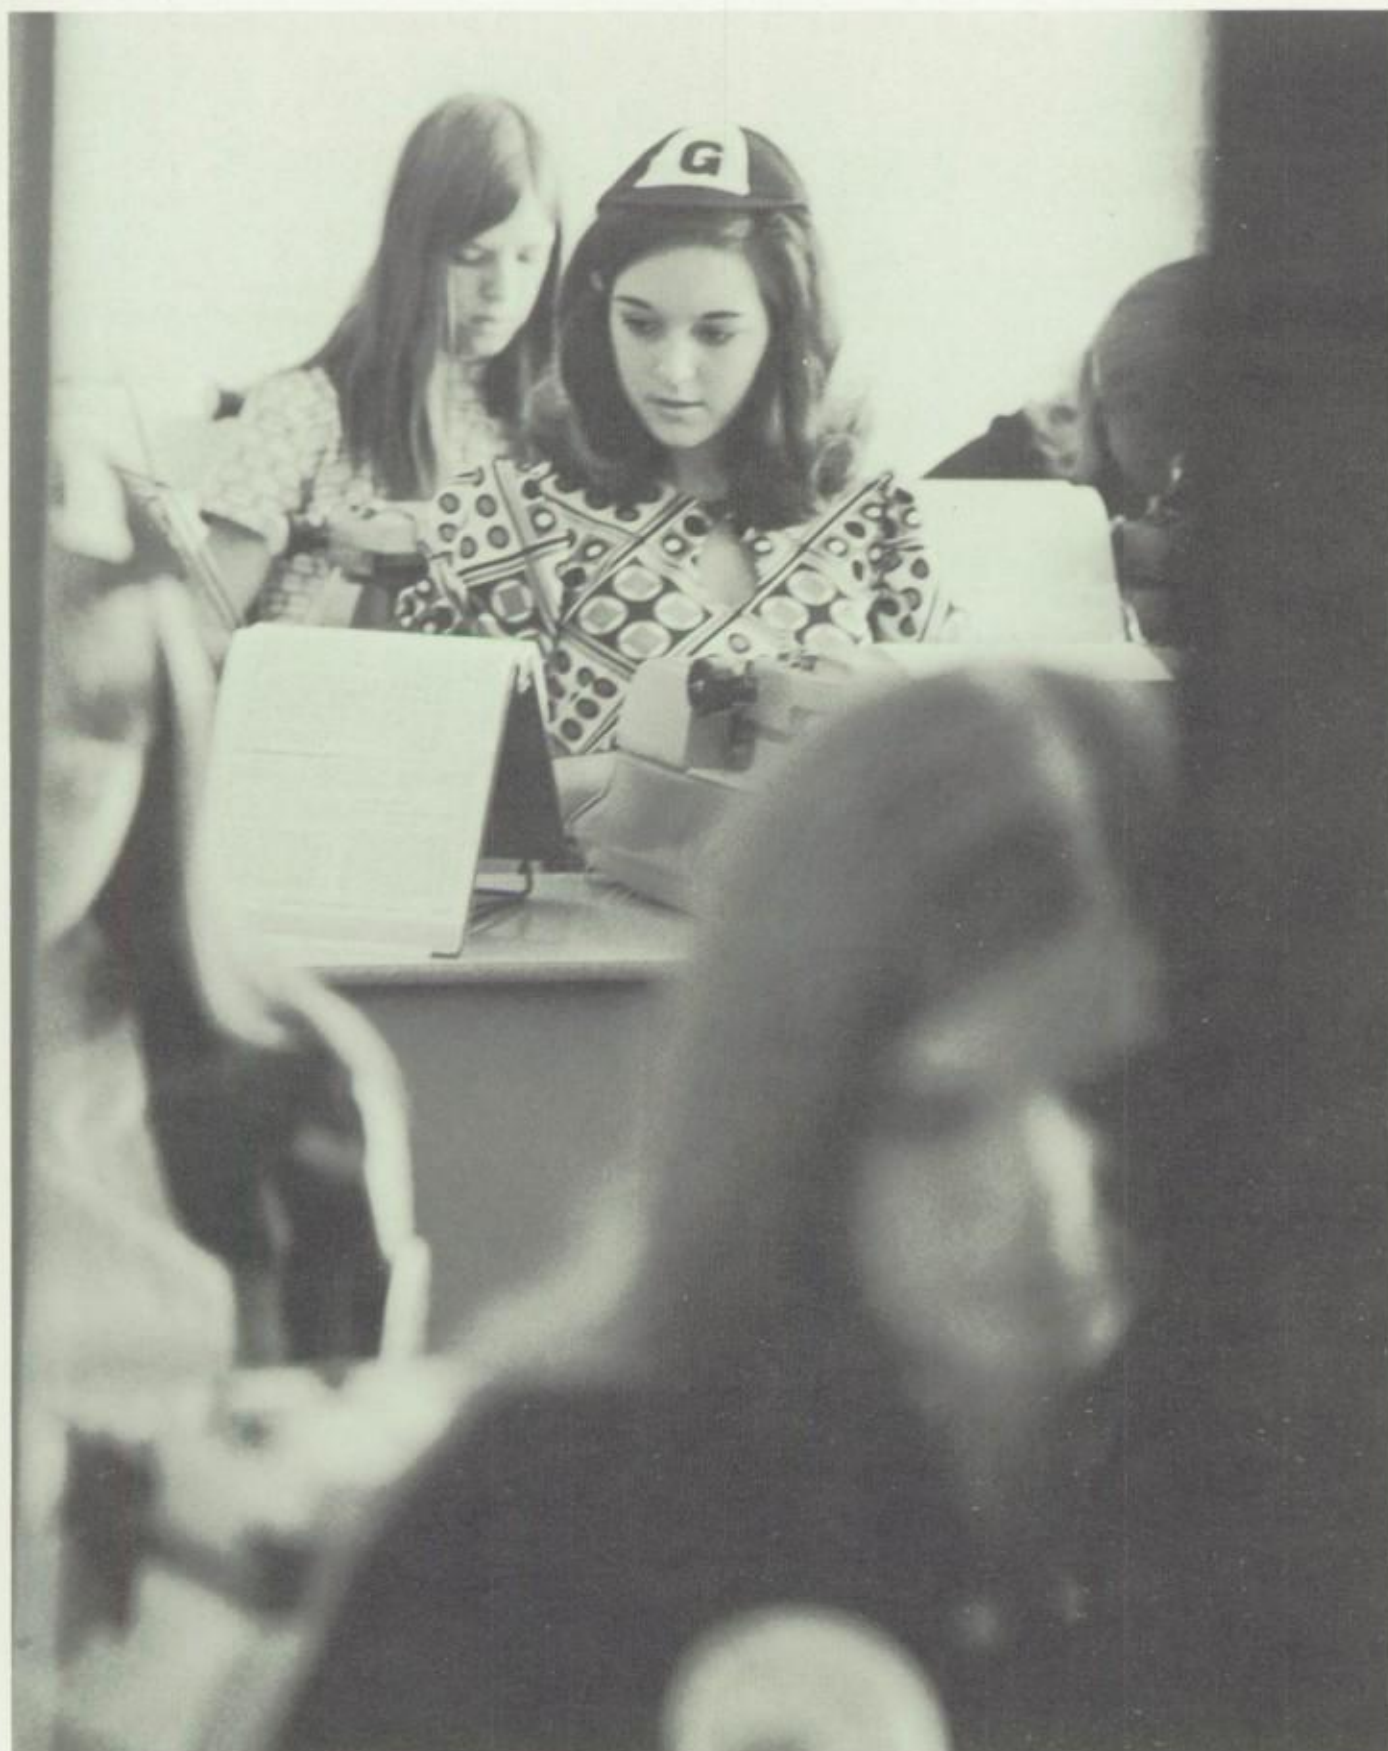

"In the years I've been at Greer High School I remember some things I enjoyed and some things I didn't enjoy. When I was a freshman I remember taking gym — oh, wrestling with my friends, bowling together, swimming, track; as a sophomore, taking driver's education, how happy I was when I got my permit, more happier when I got my license."

"The one thing I would not change is the attitude. On the whole there is a good, positive attitude of wanting to learn.

Next year in the model school there needs to be a bigger selection of electives or courses like they have at the Middle School, called 'special interests.' Students might get more out of a class if they knew they could have field trips or even a speaker. It gets pretty boring sticking to the book all the time."

"I think the school should have more activities for girls, or at least one. The boys have football, basketball, golf, track, wrestling, and baseball. And this year I think they are even going to have a tennis team."

Your so sweet and nice. You'll always go far if you stay the way you are now.

HAVE A NICE
SUMMER.

HARRINGTON

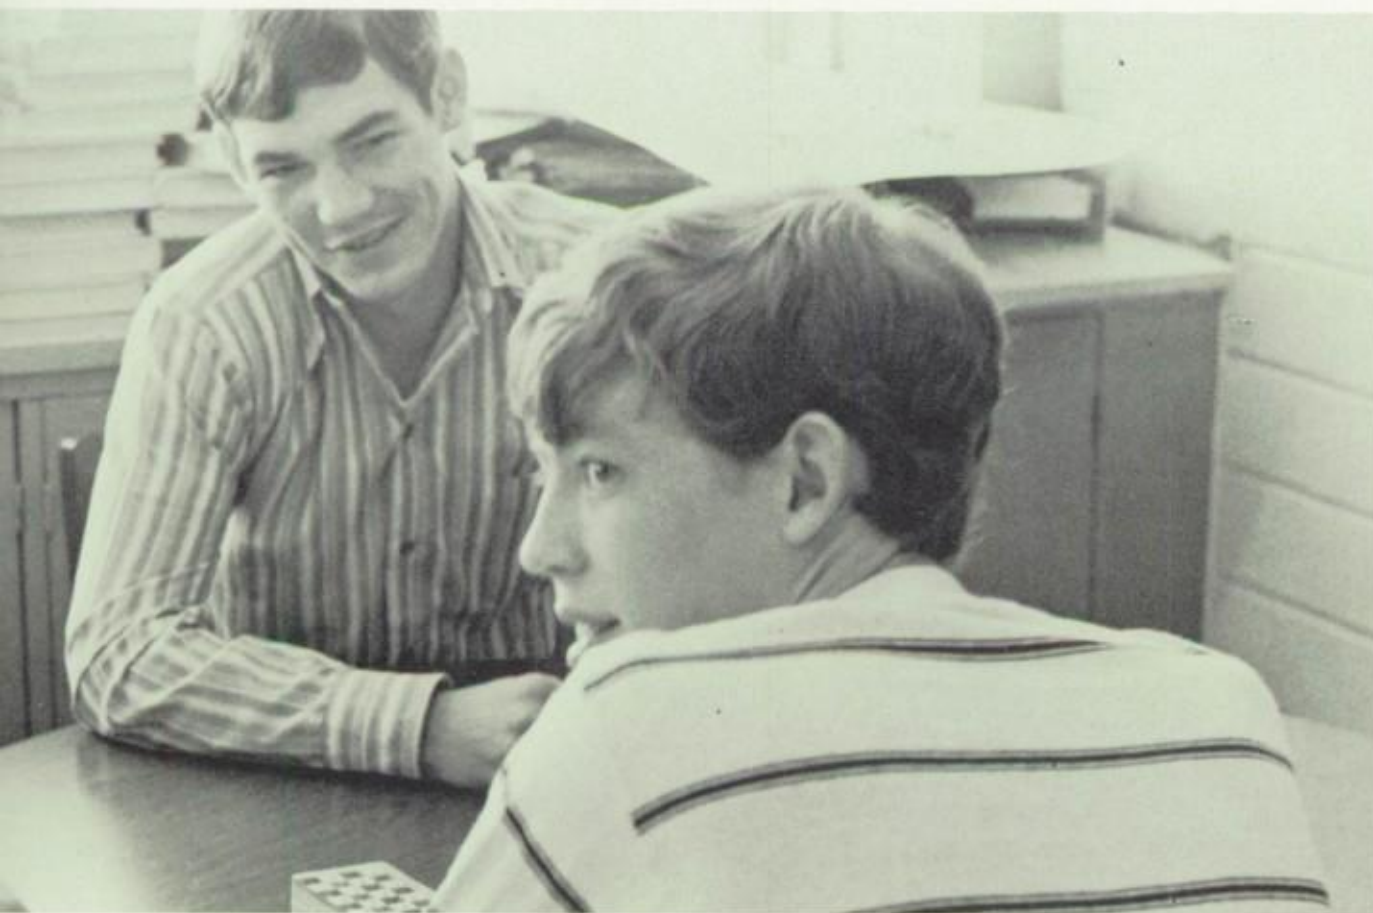

"One thing I can't understand is why they don't have girls athletics. I would really love to have a girls basketball team. About the only thing you can do here is be a cheerleader. GAA is good, but you get tired of playing against one another. There isn't enough competition."

"I like having the ceremony for getting our rings. Some schools feel that rings aren't that important and they just give them out like candy. I'm glad Greer High is different."

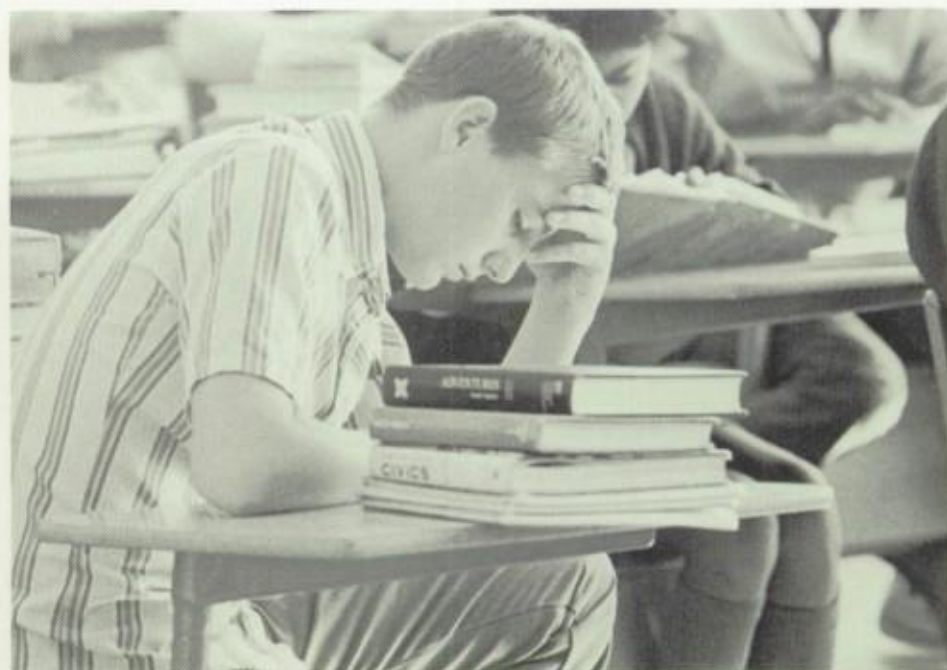

"The school should let you-go home after you've taken what you have to. Like right now I have two study halls in a row, and I think that's pretty dumb."

"An atmosphere that is not too relaxed and yet not too tense is present in classes at Greer. One can usually say what he's thinking and not be ridiculed by the teacher. And, oh yes, the teachers, one of Greer's strong points. I've not had too many terrible problems with one that we couldn't solve."

"Most of my friends who started at Greer High with me in the ninth grade have now quit school. Some of them have been kicked out. Two of them are dead. I hope I can work and live to graduate from this place and leave my seat to others behind me.

I hope that someday students will be able to leave the school grounds for lunch and smoking will be permitted for those who smoke. I hope they do not cut down the shrubbery we set out in Agriculture I, which took us a week to dig the holes."

"I think Greer High is a real good school. In my opinion, the students are really working together. We haven't had any real bad problems this year."

"In the ninth grade I was frightened of high school, but, as I look back over four years, it doesn't bother me now. When I leave this school, I will be leaving a sort of second home — a place of friendship, a place of learning, and a place where you can even find the one you love . . ."

Mike,
 Don't make 12 yrs.
 go to waste do something great. See ya in the future.

With great pains we started to work on our yearbook again last spring. After presenting last year's annual, we were at a loss to find a novel way to make a new book. Instead of trying to outdo last year's special effects, we went back to basics. Still, we managed to be with the times by designing a square book. Greer High is one of the first high schools to adapt this new shape which opens up a new dimension for layouts and accents the photography better than the old style book. And since this year's emphasis is on photography, we were lucky to have the services of Louis Smith, who supplied pictures of everything from Beth Worth on a Charleston bridge to a caterpillar on a watermelon.

But did we stop there? No. By purchasing a 1972 yearbook from Greer High, you get free (no strings attached) one (1) yellow box in which you can keep your yearbook hidden. All this for the price of one annual.

In fact this year you get not one but two yearbooks. The first, called "Epilogue" shows the emotions of a year at Greer High, and makes the point that the annual is the epilogue for the school year. And for those who are not satisfied with feeling, and demand fact, the "Index" gives names and faces.

Getting the names and faces together involved working and playing one hour a day during school and many hours after school. Though Mary and Tommy spent countless hours on indexing and collecting money, they did manage to enjoy themselves, too. Mary kept the staff informed on all local gossip while Tommy (alias "Mr. Clean") kept the rubbish out of our room. Wryley also kept us occupied by organizing games of "Bulls & Cleots". In any case, we all became unified under the leadership of Mr. Beason. He kept our spirits up by telling us such awful elephant jokes. These made up the activity room crew. Other staff members can be found on preceding pages.

What's given a lot of joy, confusion, and a few headaches, and has a big red dot? Wrong. The 1972 Le Flambeau.

That's all folks,

Eddie Shively

The leaves have all fallen now. The ghosts have withdrawn, but their spirits have not departed. You carry them with you for the summoning.

Call them back whenever you will.

Turn back; look back.
